

Alphabet Letter Memorizing Trick

The following technique (which we call Ping-Pong), is a very powerful tool for accelerating the rate in which any student can permanently memorize (learn) the alphabet letters. The technique achieves this high rate of progress by introducing only one new letter along with the previous letter. The increased repetition of only small amounts of information results in a dramatically improved learning rate.

TEACHERS: YOU CAN ALSO COPY LETTER PATTERNS BELOW ONTO YOUR "CHALKBOARD" FOR A POWERFUL REPEATED CLASSROOM ACTIVITY DURING THE DAY

Teacher/Classroom Procedure

STEP 1 – LETTER WRITING PRACTICE - Pass out this sheet to each student in the classroom. Discuss the letters and have students use a pencil and practice writing over the "dotted" letter under teacher's directions. Discuss the unusual "typewriter a" style which is typically seen in books but is not used in writing.

STEP 2 – STUDENT ORAL READING - Call on several students to individually read either the top - middle or bottom row of letters below. Tell all students that if a mistake is made to please raise their hand quietly.

STEP 3 – CLASSROOM ORAL READING – Have the classroom read each row of letters together as a group.

STEP 4 – WRITING PRACTICE and FINAL TEST – End this activity by having students trace over each letter below. While this is being done, teacher and assistants walk around the room to test students on reading one of the rows above. Place a "smiley face" in the box to the right of each row if read correctly.
